

How efficient is your training process?

CourseControl allows organizations to manage complex training processes within an easy to manage environment.

Your training departments will be able to focus on the link between strategic business needs and training.

CourseControl will manage the learning process automatically.

Combined with LearningPortal, CourseControl will guide you through blended learning with simple pedagogical and administrative methods.

Personal training plan

Training managers are able to assign learning activities to students.

Optional self-enrollement to learning activities allows students to participate in personal development management.

Management of blended learning programs

Using the blended learning approach, you will benefit from the advantages of e-learning as well as from the "live" group dynamics of classical training.

Management of training paths including classical training, e-learning and assessments is supplied through the standard CourseControl interface.

Course content

Publication of the course contents of your learning programs on Intranet or Internet.

User management

Invitation of users to blended learning programs, tests and e-learning programs.

Email notification of superiors.

Manage usergroups to assign trainingpaths.

Process management

Use templates to schedule new training sessions of pre-defined programs.

Adding participants to session using quota and credits.

Manage you trainer data

Integration of the logistics process.

Automatic scheduling of invitation, validation, cancellation mails.

Setting-up of a link between invitations and evaluation forms when using QualitySensor.

Uploading of student information from your HR system

Uploading of student data with Excel or XML data imports.

Reporting

Generation of reports on users, organisations and programs.

Multilanguage and Unicode

CourseControl offers multi language capabilities in communication and interface with support of Unicode for non-western Latin characters.
